Hello Sisters~

Well I am writing to you from my house where I have been for about the last three weeks. Much like all of you I am adjusting to this stay at home quarantine and finding my way to make it day to day. What a strange and unique time we are living in. I have learned so much in the last three weeks but one of the big lessons I have learned is how amazing teachers really are. In Humble ISD teachers were asked to begin teaching and connecting to all their students virtually. With very little guidance and preparation I have seen so many teachers go above and beyond to still provide an education to their students and support to families who are working to educate their kids at home! Both of my children have had amazing responses from their teachers with guidance and instruction in unique and interesting ways. I have to tell you this huge change has sparked a desire to learn in both of my children that they did not have before. They love the ZOOM meetings with their classes and teachers and love showing them their house and bedrooms and explaining what their day looks like. They are even doing athletics over ZOOM with their coaches and it has been great! I am in awe of well this is working and continue to be honored to be a part of this profession!

With so many of our spring events scheduled we are sadly missing our time of year where we really get to celebrate one another and enjoy the hard work of the school year. While we cannot be together this spring to celebrate our scholarships winners and our members, we can still do this virtually and through email communication. Please be sure to look for emails from our board members celebrating our members, scholarship winners and other great end of the celebrations!!
